Khartik Subramani  - Mumbai, IN
28 year old Data Scientist

Brief summary

Bachelors in Computer Science and has worked as a data scientist for the last 4 years.
Has two kids and has been in a comitted relationship since 23.
Khartiks favorite language is Python due to the ease of development. However for sharp projects he often has to use Java or C++.
Outside of work he spends alot of time with his family and is a self-proclaimed food buff. Often experimenting with classic Indian recipes with a twist.
He has gotten a few work offers from larger companies abroad but so far they have all required him to relocate which he feels isn't an option currently.

Main goals

Isn't actively looking for something but just kind of want to see what's out there and thinks it might be a good way to connect with foreign developers.

Pain points

• People who are too opinionated and talk too much.
• Snobs that have too strict coding standards.

Features

• Being able to search users without being logged in.
• Users being able to have multiple photos.
